Presentation at Midway Christian:

7 p.m.
October 19th

Fr. Jim Flynn and
Kentucky Interfaith Power and Light present...

Walking the Encyclical
Reading Then Living Laudato Si'

Father Jim Flynn and Kentucky Interfaith Power and Light have partnered together to bring an informative presentation on the Pope's Encyclical to faith communities in Kentucky. Fr. Flynn offers a down-to-earth approach to learning and understanding the teachings of Pope Francis' most recent work, while Kentucky IPL provides meaningful action ideas for faith communities to become better stewards of the planet.

In addition to having a deeper understanding of Laudato Si', churches that participate in Walking the Encyclical will get the information they need to care for God's creation through energy friendly actions such as energy audits, efficient lighting, reduced water use, campus-wide recycling, and more. Church members will also learn how they can reduce their impact on the planet in their own homes. All are welcome!

In this three-week course we will think together about the power of biblical language for God to shape our dreams for the future as well as our actions in the present. We will learn about the abundance of metaphors for God in the Hebrew Bible and New Testament to see what we can learn from them about the nature of God, and how they offer us new ways to speak the power of God in our lives. We will also explore the circumstances under which religious language might become idolatrous. We will see how the language of Jesus' parables has the power to shake up our status quo and show us where God's Kingdom is breaking into our lives. Finally, we will look at how theological models for God, such as God as Shepherd and God as King, both help and hinder our faith. Throughout the course we will practice praying with Biblical metaphors that open new dimensions in our
